Chatter Clouds

Develop early communication, language, speaking & listening skills with our Chatter Clouds.

A photograph of a young child with curly red hair, wearing a yellow headband and a white shirt with blue spots. The child is reaching up to hang a blue Chatter Cloud device from a white washing line. The device has a drywipe surface and a built-in hook and magnetic spring clip. A card next to the device says "Quack".

Built in hook & magnetic spring clip

Drywipe surface

Records 40 seconds of audio

INSPIRED, TESTED & Loved BY PRACTITIONERS

"The recordable Chatter Cloud can record and play back up to 40 seconds of high quality audio. Ideal to help develop essential early literacy, speaking and listening and reading skills. The built-in hook, simple touch sensor and spring clip, make the Chatter Cloud an ideal way to display children's work on a washing line.

The Chatter Cloud has a wipe clean surface and can be customised using dry wipe pens."

Welcome

...to this special supplement celebrating the winners of the Teach Company Awards 2019. Following the success of the Teach Early Years and Teach Primary Awards, launched in 2017 and 2018 respectively, we are thrilled this year to be able to offer similar recognition for superb resources that can make a difference at Key Stages 3 and 4, by way of the inaugural Teach Secondary Awards. Together, the three strands make up the Teach Company Awards, highlighting the very best options out there to support teaching and learning throughout a child's educational journey from 0-16+. It's been a long process, from inviting entries back in May 2019 to waiting for our expert judges to assess the shortlists in each category (no easy task); but we are delighted to be able to reveal this year's Teach Company Award winners – and we hope you'll agree they are a thoroughly worthy bunch. Brilliantly diverse and bursting with innovation, these are resources that have been thoughtfully developed to have a positive impact in the classroom and beyond. Congratulations to all our worthy winners.

- 17 Teach Primary Awards 2019
- 33 Teach Secondary Awards 2019

How it worked

After calling in nominations, we compiled a shortlist of six per category. Our expert judges were then asked to assess these finalists, scoring them according to a clear set of criteria, including potential impact on both outcomes and teacher workload, adaptability, and value for money. This enabled us to identify five-, four- and three-star winners in each category.

WOODEN MINIBEAST BLOCKS

(Commotion / TickiT)

These chunky beechwood picture blocks, of which there are 33 in all, feature real images of minibeasts from around the world. The blocks are smooth to touch, freestanding and easy for young children to handle.

They're perfect for use in imaginative play, and for developing descriptive language skills and children's understanding of the world. The realistic images also make them ideal for making comparisons with insects spotted while out and about or in picture books (a colour identification guide is also provided).

The main content area displays a page titled 'Path 1: What is self-regulation (SR)?' which includes a list of skills such as 'Controlling own feelings and behaviours', 'Being able to switch focus back from upset', etc., and a note about the definition of self-regulation.

SELF-REGULATION IN EARLY YEARS (Mine Conkbayir)

Priced from £99, this programme offers learners an accessible introduction to self-regulation, explaining it in an informed, critical and practical way, encouraging educators to reflect on its direct implications for practice. There is a strong emphasis on building understanding of the importance of the practitioner's role in nurturing self-regulation through co-regulating children's emotional responses, to build resilience.

There's invaluable support, too, for practitioners who are trying to work with the new Early Learning Goals and ensure they are interpreted appropriately, taking account of the child as an individual. Visit

LISTENING TO YOUNG CHILDREN IN EARLY YEARS SETTINGS (Sonia Mainstone-Cotton / Jessica Kingsley Publishers)

Beginning with a discussion about why we listen to children and the policies around this, Listening to Young Children (£14.99) explains how to involve children in age-appropriate decision-making. It's packed full of ideas that can be easily applied in practice, covering how to listen to children's perspectives and involve them in staff recruitment and appraisals, classroom design, assessment processes for social services and EHC plans, and much more. # Hemispheres Think Write

Think Write makes Handwriting easier. Makes it fun.

Hemispheres Think Write is the first cursive handwriting programme, developed by an occupational therapist, to be used in classrooms across the UK and internationally. Think Write provides a school with a single framework to teach the skills needed for handwriting starting with prewriting skills and ending with full cursive letters by the end of Year 2.

Think Write complements a child's phonetic knowledge and helps them connect the letter form, sound with the written form. Think Write can fit into any school, any budget offering schools a blend of print and interactive whiteboard technology so they can feel confident they are developing confident writers.

Think Write uses loveable animal characters to teach children the correct thinking skills, so they understand the rules for the height, size and spatial placement as well as formation all before they pick up a pencil. The rules are taught through games and activities and then when they are ready, children are taught to apply their thinking to letter formation. From three simple starting shapes, basic motor patterns for the 26 letters soon develop into recognised letters and transition into joined up words and sentences with little effort.

THE ONE STOP STORY SHOP

(Tracey Corderoy & Tony Neal
/ Little Tiger Press)

This enjoyable adventure takes readers from the deep dark woods to outer space, from the wild west to the heart of the jungle, from horseback to seahorseback. As fun to read aloud as it is to listen to, The One Stop Story Shop (£11.99) has something to fire children's imaginations whatever their interests, and will provoke plenty of discussion as a result. Visit littletiger.co.uk

“ “I really loved the illustrations; there is lots to look at and talk about on every page.” Alistair Bryce-Clegg

THE RABBIT LISTENED

(Cori Doerrfeld / Scallywag Press)

In The Rabbit Listened (£12.99) we meet Taylor, who has been through a very difficult time. He has concerned friends who tell him how he should feel and how he might go about feeling better, but it's not until a little rabbit sits quietly by his side that he begins to process his thoughts, and think and feel on his own. A sensitive story that will help children to develop a strong emotional intelligence. Visit scallywagpress.com

English

Fiction Express

Fiction Express (FE) offers a unique reading experience. It has been designed to improve poor reading habits by getting children excited about reading through the power of engagement. FE stories are published in weekly instalments: each week, pupils read the chapter and at the end they are rewarded with the option to vote to decide what happens next. The author then writes the next chapter in real time. Pupils can also interact with the author and other readers from around the world on the online book forum to build the story together.

fictionexpress.co.uk

The Fiction Express platform includes a dashboard with reports on student engagement (e.g., 16% have read, 15% have answered, 13% have voted, 2% have commented) and a chapter page showing a story snippet and interactive voting options.

"A really interesting and dynamic resource. The format engages children, not only in the reading process, but also in story construction"

TRACY PARVIN

The Literary Curriculum

THE LITERACY TREE

The Literary Curriculum is a whole-school cohesive approach to book-based primary English. It provides schools with detailed planning sequences that cover and embed all the National Curriculum requirements and lead to purposeful short and longer writing opportunities. Children explore 110 high-quality texts from Reception to Y6.

All the sequences include engaging starting points to generate interest, develop vocabulary and activate inference. All texts sit in literary themes and each year group has six themes with a clear progression. literarycurriculum.co.uk

Learning Village

ACROSS CULTURES

The Learning Village is an innovative English-language programme, providing targeted learning, online and offline, for 6- to 14-year-old new arrivals to the UK. It takes children who have limited English-language skills on an exciting journey of learning, from survival language through to curriculum content. In a vibrant online 'village', the programme builds a community of learners, forging friendships as new arrivals share learning and compete against one another. Its image-based approach means that it works for learners of any language. learningvillage.net

MathsBeat is a new digitally-led resource, crafted by teachers who understand the challenges of teaching for mastery within a UK classroom. Overseen by expert series editors, Mike Askew and Robert Wilne, resources include embedded professional development to build subject knowledge and deepen understanding of how to teach and assess for mastery. The resource supports areas of maths that can be challenging, including: addressing mixed attainment, assessing for depth of understanding, how to go deeper and when to move children on. It is supported by a community of teachers who have trialled MathsBeat in the classroom. global.oup.com

Teach Active formerly Maths of the Day

ACTIVE MATHS

Maths of the Day provides teachers with lesson plans and resources of how to deliver the maths curriculum through physical activity. It makes a real difference and impact with children, in terms of attitudes and attainment in maths, while also helping them to benefit from the rewards of being more active. Maths of the Day has seen tremendous growth over the past three years and currently works with 1,400 schools and over 300,000 children per week. mathsoftheday.org.uk

IDL Numeracy

IDL Numeracy was developed in response to the growing number of children falling through the gaps in numeracy alongside a lack of effective and affordable products available to help. It is designed to reduce the stress those with low-level maths ability or dyscalculia would ordinarily feel when faced with mathematical problems. After a few hours using the programme, learners find a familiarity with the lessons, enabling them to gain confidence and improve their ability. idlsgroup.com

STEM Projects

PRIM-ED PUBLISHING

Created by a team of educational consultants and teachers, the STEM Projects boxed series provides opportunities for pupils to creatively apply skills and knowledge in science; craft, design and engineering; numeracy and mathematics; and digital technology, while completing short- or long-term projects. Each STEM project card is linked to the National Curriculum for science. prim-ed.co.uk

CREATE Education Project

A complete package of equipment, resources, software and support enables schools to introduce and embed 3D printing technology and enhance STEM provision. All resources and recommended software are free, along with a free 3D printer loan scheme to allow all students to experience the technology, regardless of school budget constraints. Schools which purchase 3D printers through CREATE can benefit from software, technology and curriculum CPD, as well as free lifetime technical support.

The Solar Challenge

PRACTICAL ACTION

This STEM challenge is set in the context of a community in Zimbabwe who do not have access to mains electricity. Pupils start with a whole-class activity making a national grid. This leads on to hands-on investigations of circuits using solar cells which cover the electricity unit requirements for UK's science curriculum for pupils 7-11. In the main challenge pupils learn about the needs and wants for electricity in the community then make recommendations on usage from a limited supply of solar cells. ## Tackling Plastic Pollution with Sky Ocean Rescue

PREMIER LEAGUE PRIMARY STARS

Premier League Primary Stars and Sky teamed up to create and launch a set of free, downloadable PSHE teaching resources dedicated to the Sky Ocean Rescue #PassOnPlastic campaign for primary schools across the country. The flexible and easy-to-use resources include films featuring Dee Caffari MBE, the first woman to sail single-handedly and non-stop around the world “the wrong way” and sports presenter and ex-Arsenal player Alex Scott to encourage students, along with inspirational challenges and an interactive quiz designed to shine a spotlight on the issues affecting ocean health and find innovative solutions to the problem of plastics in our oceans. plprimarystars.com

“This resource encourages children to step back and think about their plastics footprint and act immediately to stop the world drowning in plastic”

JOHN DABELL

WakeUpWednesday

NATIONAL ONLINE SAFETY

The #WakeUpWednesday campaign and resources were launched in response to what NOS perceived as a lack of quality free and engaging online safety information for schools and their communities. Through this initiative, the organisation aimed to equip each and every trusted adult with the crucial information they need to keep children safe online and to raise awareness of the associated issues that could arise from online activities for children. nationalonlinesafety.com

“A superb knowledge base, these are informative and engaging guides full of top tips for guiding digital behaviours”

JOHN DABELL

Puffin Schools

Puffin Schools is on a mission to inspire teachers by sharing practical resources, advice and inspiration that bring stories to life and make reading for fun part of daily school life. The website, launched in 2019, is completely free and includes everything from free resources and booklists to videos, ranging from draw-alongs, how tos and story times, to information on how to meet an author. An inspiration section features guest posts with ideas that can be used in the classroom. puffinschools.co.uk

The SEND Programme

REAL TRAINING

Established now for five years, our SEND Programme has been helping hundreds of education professionals worldwide gain the skills and confidence they need to better support the most vulnerable children in their schools. The programme uses a practice-led learning model to encourage longer-term learning and help educators implement effective strategies to make a difference in the school straight away. Modules are completed flexibly online, meaning that the delegate can study at a time, pace and location that suits them. Unlike other training programmes, the masters-level programme can be easily tailored to meet the needs and SEND interests of the educator.

realtraining.co.uk

"The resource is innovative in its flexibility for busy primary school staff, offering the individual to tailor their choice of modules and plan in studying alongside their own timetable."

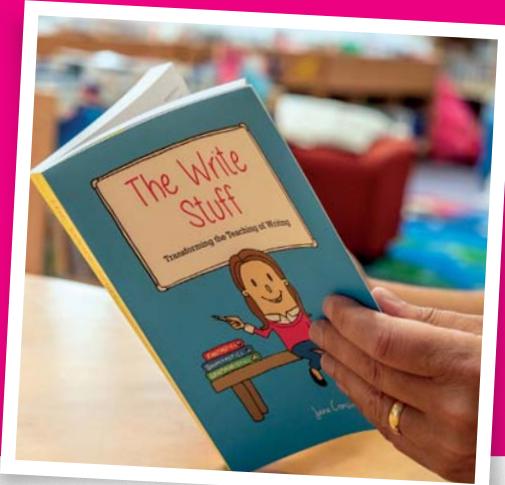

MARIA CUNNINGHAM

The Write Stuff

THE TRAINING SPACE

The Write Stuff by Jane Considine reveals a step-by-step framework for strengthening the teaching of writing. The guidelines in this book provide a comprehensive answer to converting struggling writers into successful writers. The Write Stuff brings clarity to the mechanics of the teaching of writing and thousands of teachers are now using the systems within this book to help children find their writing voice, improve outcomes and raise standards. thetrainingspace.co.uk

NOS Certified Community Package

NATIONAL ONLINE SAFETY

This is a complete solution for schools to implement an effective approach to online safety, and keep their entire community regularly updated in an ever-evolving digital world. It has been designed by education professionals to meet the statutory online safety safeguarding duties outlined in the Keeping Children Safe in Education (KCSIE) September 2018 guidance. The training is delivered 100% online, making the information accessible anytime, anywhere on any device, delivered instantly to the school as and when required.
